CALL FOR PAPERS

The 1993 Berkshire Conference on the History of Women will be held June 11-13 at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. This ninth conference, which will focus on "Transformations: Women, Gender, Power," welcomes proposals for complete panels (to include two papers, one commentator, and a moderator) or roundtables; however, individual papers will be considered. The conference welcomes international participation in its focus on addressing the relationship between feminist history and social and political practice. Interdisciplinary or comparative approaches crossing national, cultural, racial or ethnic lines are encouraged. Please refer to the "academic" board for complete information.
